Computer expert Dr. Amy Peters has discovered the key to the creation of self-replicating, sentient computers—a discovery that will change her life forever. Two men arrive on Earth to steal Amy's data. One of them wants to give her the best sexual experience of her life, the other wants to kill her. Both of them watch her every move. Amy has five days before her findings go public at an international conference. Five days to keep herself and her work safe. Five days with the sexiest man she's ever met...and five days to convince him not to leave.
